AMUSEMENTS.

A host of spick-span new artists appear at the ew York Circus this week. Pive more new stars appear this week at the ion Square Theatre. Mr. Lester Wallack makes his first "Divorce" commences its eleventh wee row at the Fifth Avenue Theatre. Crammed houses Prince George Nicholas Galitzin gives the first of his grand Russian concerts at Steinway Hall on Mus Annie Lonsdale (Mrs. John Darcie), a ciever.

The charming and brilliant actress, Miss Ettle denderson, has just concluded a nighty successful magagement at the Park Theatre, Brooklyn.

The old established play bil', the Stage, has assumed a new and most attractive form, and has bound its way into nearly every theatre in the city.

Wachtel sings in "Trovatore" to-morrow evening, and closes an unprecedentedly successful engagement at the Stadt on Wednesday, after which he starts on a concert tour through the New England States. He has netted over $30,000 during the past season of ten weeks, and his managers, Messrs. Rosa and Renendorf, have realized still more.

Miss Charlette Stanley has made a decided hit and very lavorable impression at the Bowery during her fortnight engagement. The most pleasing features of her acting rest in her grace and naturalness. One is agreeably disappointed at this theatre to find an actress that discards all hackneyed tricks and straining after effect, and rests for success on her own innate talents. Miss Stanley's proper sphere is at one of the Broadway theatres.

The Globe Theatre, which, during the past two or three weeks, has been subjected to the management of several individuals who thought to revive its drooping fortunes by giving the very same class of entertainment which provoked its misfortune, has been taken under the management of Mr. Harry Cunningham, a gentleman of considerable managerial experience, who intends introducing a competent company and inaugurating a dramatic season on Monday night, charles Foster's popular drama of "Bertha" will be the opening attraction, and it will be produced in a manner thoroughly first class in every respect.

Gottschalk, brother and sister of the late lamented Louis Gottschalk, the distinguished planist; Miles. Castellan and de Try, whose performances on the violin and violoncello have charmed the audiences at these entertainments, and the full orchestra. These concerts are becoming very popular, and deservedly so, great improvement being noticeable in the band since Carl Bergman assumed the direction, and the care taken by the management in securing first class, word talent cannot tall to make these concerts a credit to Colonel James Fisk, Jr., through whose exertions this tamous band has been organized and equipped.
